Summary

The first of April was greeted by a loud groan from Oki.

The first of April was greeted by a loud groan from Oki. Not because she'd been pranked or anything like that, but because the first of April required Oki to change the calendar page. This was an issue because it meant that the glorious picture of Wonder Woman singlehandedly saving the DC Comics franchise was replaced with a mediocre picture of Steve Trevor.

"We could always keep it on March." Leah suggested.

"There. Now it's perfect."
